Let us take the reins on animal transportation

We know that having a safe and quiet environment for livestock, particularly horses, is essential for successful animal transport.

As a U.S. Department of Agriculture certified Export Inspection Facility and Permanent Port of Embarkation, Rickenbacker International Airport has the facilities, staff, partners and geography to make animal transportation as easy and efficient as possible while minimizing the stress to your animals as well as your business.

The Rickenbacker difference

It's about time someone cared for your animals like their own. We've worked hard to create a process and culture of animal-friendly flying at Rickenbacker. Here's what you can expect when transporting animals through our dedicated animal handling facility:

- A fully enclosed livestock rest, inspection and transfer facility
- Quieter, less congested airport, focused on the handling of freighter aircraft
- Situated right on the aircraft apron
- Responsive USDA APHIS office only 15 minutes from the airport
- The capacity to park multiple tractor trailers inside for efficient and secure transfer
- Experienced livestock ground handling by way of Baker Livestock and Horse Transport
- 12 rest and inspection stalls with room for additional temporary holding stalls
- Short drive times from major horse and livestock markets
- Uncongested roadway access

All of this equals higher service, less stress and a better transportation experience for your animals.

Large livestock terminal facility

At Rickenbacker, we have an upgraded and recently renovated airside livestock terminal facility dedicated solely to the movement of animals. We've designed this area so you can:

- Rest your animals in spacious stalls before being inspected and exported
- Enjoy a large space for easy maneuvering (117 feet wide by 130 feet long of open warehouse space)
- Park multiple tractor trailers inside for secure loading into jet stalls
- Stay warm in colder months in the heated warehouse
- Keep animals calm in a quiet facility that is only a five-minute tug ride away from the airplane
- Move through access doors that are 20 feet high

Baker Livestock and Horse Transport

Baker Livestock and Horse Transport is our certified livestock ground handling agent. With more than 25 years of animal transport experience as well as a staff specializing in moving animals, the quality and care they provide are unparalleled. Other services and benefits include:

- Height-adjustable chute for the transport of the horses into the jet stalls, making the transition from the trailer to jet stall very easy and efficient
- Nets, water jugs and shavings for each shipment
- Transportation coordination of grooms from John Glenn Columbus International Airport located less than 20 miles from Rickenbacker
- Coordination services for animal testing, isolation and flight booking
- Inspections at quarantine sites (in some circumstances)
- Custom crate building for any animals
- Air carrier coordination and aircraft disinfecting services
